IMPORTANT FROM THE SOUTHWEST Hood's Army Still Concentrated at Florence, Alabama.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 16 - A dispatch says about fifty rebel prisoners at Camp Morton succeeded

Over two thousand men left Indianapolis yesterday for the front. Five thousand are in scaling the fence on Monday night. Forty

The Gazette's Nashville dispatch says the rebel army, numbering therty thousand, is still concentrating in the vicinity of Florence, Alabama. One corps is on this side of the river. The condition of the roads prevent active military operations, and therefore the rebel army remains comparatively quiet.

LATEST FROM THE FRONT. A Sharp Game Attempted by the Rebels-A Smart Picket Fight.

Correspondence Associated Press.] HEADQUARTEES ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Nov. 15 .- The rebels have lately been playing a sharp game in front of a part of our lines near the Appomattox At this point there is a small creek in from of our works across which they have built a dam which has threatened to force back our picket line to a dangerous extest. To counteract this project Gen. Egan had devised works, which he superintended

On visiting a part of the time, Sunday night, a rebel sharpshoeter succeeded, after several attempts, in wounding him; the ball entering the right forearm, passing diagonally down several inches and out at the wrist. The wound is a very painful one, but, fortunately, not dangerous. He goes bome to morrow, on a leave of twenty days, and it is hoped he will be able to return to his command by the time his furlough expires.

Another sharp fight occurred between the pickets last right, about 10 o'clock, which lasted about an hour, without, it is believed, any noticeable result. W. D. McGREGOR.

GENERAL ORDERS, NO. 222. Ordered by the President . 1. That the resignation of GRORGE B. McClellan, as Major General in the United States Army, dated November 8, and received by the Adju ant General on the 10th instant, be accepted as of the 8th of November. II. That for the personal gallantry, military skill, and just confidence in the courage and patriotism of his troops, displayed by PHILIP H. SHERIDAN, on the 19th day of October, at

Cedar Run, whereby, under the blessing of Providence, his routed army was reorganized, a great national disaster averted, and a brilliant victory achieved over the rebels for the third time in pitched battle within thirty days, PHILIP H SHERIDAN is appointed Major General in the United States Army, to rank as such from the 8th day of November, 1861. [SECOND DESPATCH.]
NEW YORK, Nov. 15, 10 P. M.—Stocks are feverish and weak. Gold, 237 4; after the call,

GEN. BUTLER ON THE PRESIDENTIAL ELEC-TION - Major G neral Butler, in a speech at New York on Monday evening, stated his conviction that the result of the recent Presidential election was a moral victory for the national cause more important and decisive than a signal triumph of our arms. It was a demonstration of the willingness of the people to brave further sacrifices and sufferings, if need be. in defense of the unity and perpetuity of the Republic. It would so be regarded in Europe and in those port one of our country still under rebel domination. It would carry despair to the hearts of many, convincing them that the success of the receilion was no longer possible. It would encourage and invigorate our armies, while paralyzing the exertions of the rebels. It would be everywhere received as a proof that the Union it hever to be surrendered. He thought that our Government might now proffer the olive branch to the rebels, tendering them liberal and even generous terms of adjustment in case of their return to the Union, and siving them a reasonable time-say, till the 8th of January next-to signify their acquiescence; if they hold out, then he would favor a most energetic and unsparing prosecution of the war to the end that the obstinately disloyal should be driven to Mexico or elsewhere-at all events, out of the country-and their estates divided among the Union soldiers who had contributed to their over-

By Dispatches from the Southwest state that attempts were again being made by the rebels, on the 7th inst, at Lines' Landing, Arkansas, to get a portion of their trans-Mississippi forces across the Mississippi river from Texas, into the State of Mississippi, for the assistance of Beauregard and Hood. The movement, which was a formidable one, was thought to be under the direction of General Magruder, and to have for co-operation and assistance a rebel force on the opposite side of the river. A brigade of Union infantry was on the spot to prevent the crossing, and a brigade of cavalry was momentarrivexpected. These, it was supposed, would be sufficient for the purpose. The rebels recently succeeded in getting three thousand cattle from the west to the east side of the Mississippi, and had crossed Black river with them, on the way to Hood's army, when Col. Carrar, comusading at Vidalia, Louisiana, started in pursuit, captured one-third of the beeves, dispersed the remainder, took prisoner the rebel (reneral Carver, and seized several wagous, mules, and horses.

The election in Kansas seems to be in considerable of a muddle. There was a Mc-Clellan t cket run for electors, but no McClellan State ticket. The State and Congressional tickets were Lane as danti-Lane. The Demoerats fused with the anti-Lane A despatch from St. Joseph claims the election of the Lane ticket. The Leavenworth Times of the 10th says: -" The Presidential electors are Marcus J. Parrott and the two highest on the McClelian ticket. The Lane electors may have polled the greatest number of votes, but they are ineligible under the Constitution, and will be rejected by the Electoral College. Lane has thus succeeded in defeating the will of the people of Karsas, and affixed poon the State t delible stirms of securing two Presidential electors for McClellan. Leaven worth county has done nobly. Lee's majority for Congress will protably exceed 1,200. The average majerity for the anti-Lane ticket will be 500."

ADMIRAL PORTER'S FLEET .- A letter from Washington says that a party of officials, among whom is assistant Secretary Fox and Hon. Moetgemery Blair, have gone to Fortress Monroe to view the immense fleet now assembled there under command of Admiral Porter. This is by far the largest armada ever collected for a single expedition since the war began, and now is the most favorable time to see it to the best advantage, as every wessel is completely prepared, with the full complement of men and guns on board. How soon it will sail is a quession none but the Admiral can answer.

THE PROPERTY OF GENERAL BUTLER AT-TACRED BY ALLEGED NEW OFLEANS CREDIT. ons. Samuel Smith, and Andrew W. Smith, vs. Benjamin F. Butler. The plaintiffs in this action allege that they were in the year 1862, bankers doing business in the city of New Orleans; that on the 10th of May in that year Maj. General Butler, then commanding the United Stres forces in New Orleans, torcibly entered their place of business, at No. 27 Camp street in that city, and removed all the property of the plaintiffs, including $60,000 in gold. Subsequently it was all returned to them with the exception of the gold, which plaintiffs allege defendant converted to his own use. They claim damages in the sum of $150,000. Yesterday the plaintiffs applied to Judge Cardozo for an attachment against the Gen'l on the ground that he was a non-resident debtor. His Honor granted the order, and, being placed in the hands of the Sheriff, the General's pr. vate bank account was attached, the balance of bis salary due from the Government, and an attempt was made to attach the share of Colonel Butler's property given to the General by his brother's will, yesterday admitted to probate.- N. ARRIVAL OF THE OFFICERS OF THE PIRATE FLORIDA.

The steamer Daniel Webster, which arrived here this morning from City Point, brought up from Point Lookout the officers of the pirate Florida, captured at the port of Bahia, Brazil. There are eleven of them, the following being a list of their names : R. S. Floyd, T. F. Hunter and G. D. Bryan, Masters; Wm. Abern, First Assistant Engineer; J. B Brown, Second Assistant Engineer: T. Emory, Assistant Surgeon; T. K. Porter, First Lieutenant; S. G. Stone, Lientenant; G. T. Sinclair and W. D. Hough, Midshipmen; W. S. Thompson, Chief

These officers were all neatly dressed in new uniforms of Confederate gray cloth, and wore naval caps similar to those worn in the U.S. Navy. Nearly all of them wore "chin whis-kers," of the pattern worn by the pirate Semmes. They appear to be a harum-skarum set, and talked noisily among themselves while they were being conveyed from the 6th street wharf to the Provost Marshal's. All of them had gold watches, with large chains dangling from their vest pockets, and several displayed quite a profusion of jewelry, such as diamond pins, finger rings, &c., the proceeds of their piratical career. One of them carried under his arm a handsome mahogany writing desk, while several had huge meerchapm pipes, at which they puffed on their way. White on the pavement in front of the Provest Marshal's, awaiting admission to the office, an apple woman passed on the opposite side of the street, when they hailed her and bought the contents of her basket, paying for the same in greenbacks, and at the same time exposing to view handfuls of silver and gold. Master R. T. Floyd, who is a tall, fine-looking man, wore long black hair, which almost reached his shoulders. His cap, unlike those of the other officers, was profusely trimmed with gold lace, which, however, was somewhat solied. The only distinction between the uniforms of these officers and those worn by the officers in the Confederate military service is that the marks of rank of the former are worn on the shoulder instead of on the coat collar. These prisoners were brought from Point Lookout under charge of a strong guard of the 25th regiment Veteran Reserve Corps, commanded by Lieut. M. S. Adams, who was instructed to keep a close watch over First Asistant Engineer Ahern and Midshipman W. D. Hough, who are reported to be dangerous characters.

Assistant Surgeon Emory is a native of Washington, and was born in the First Ward of this city, where his family resides at the present time. He is a young man, about 20 years of age, and went South at the breaking out of the rebellion. Young Emory is, we believe, a son of General Emory, of the U.S.

With these prisoners is a man by the name of W. Dulaney, who says he is a citizen of Baltimore, but who was found on board the Florida at the time of her capture by the Wachusett. He claims not to be connected with the pirate The prisoners were all committed to the Old Capitol by Col. Ingraham.

The crew of the Florida are all at Point Lookout, where they have been placed in confinement, and the vessel has been ordered to New York.

GEN'L BUTLER AND THE NEW ORLEANS GOLD.

As we see the facts in the case misstated by some of our cotemporaries concerning the attachment applied for against General Butler in New York on behalf of parties in New Orleans, to recover $60,000 in gold seized by Gen. Butler in that city, it is proper to say that the gold referred to is in the Treasury of the United States, and that the plaintiffs must seek redress (if they feel aggrieved) against the Government and not against Gen Butler

The enemies of Gen. Butler find in this case, as in all others, that they are simply biting against a file when they attempt to assail him-The sturdy old patriot is invulnerable to all such assaults, and can afford to laugh at them-

CAPTURED.

This morning the two sloops Reliance and Lattle Elmer arrived here as prizes, they having been captured by the U.S. steamer Stepping Stones, of the North Atlantic Squadron, Acting Volunteer Lieutenant D. A. Campbell, on the 9th instant, in Mobjack Bay, for a violation of the blockade. The former is 33 tons, hailing from Monmouth, N. J., Capt. Wm. Ravat, and the other of six tons, from Newark, N. J. Capt. Thomas Osborn. Each had permits to go to York River, but they were caught in Mobjack Bay, into which, they stated, they had run by mistake.

COMMISSION REVOKED BY GOVERNOR SEY Captain Charles H. Palmer, 6th New York Heavy Artillery, lately promoted to the position of Majer by Governor Seymour, has had his commission revoked by Gov. S., because he testified as a witness in the North case.

PERSONAL.-Major General Butler arrived in the city last night about 10 o'clock from New York. His dispatch boat reached the 6th street wharf yesterday morning, and is now laying in readiness to convey General Butler to Fortress Monroe to resume the active command of the Army of the James.

FROM HAGERSTOWN. The Reported Rebel Invasion.

[Special Correspondence of the Star.] HAGERSTOWN. Nov. 11 .- Editor Star : Considerable excitement has existed here since Saturday, owing to a report that General Sulhivan, who now commands this post, had received a dispatch from General Sheridan to the effect that a body of rebels had crossed the river into Maryland. As to the receipt of the dispatch I cannot vouch, but the report received some color from the fact that General Sallivan called out the men of his command and placed them under arms. The convales. cents in the hospitals were also placed under arms, and cannon were planted so as to command all approaches to the town. It can be said to the credit of our citizens that instead of skedaddling this time they immediately armed themselves to defend homes and assist in driving the rebels from Maryland soil. Nearly every man that was to be seen upon the streets during Saturday night had a musket in his hands, and armed men were stationed upon all the street corners. The supply of ammunition on hand being rather small a train was despatched to Chambersburg, which returned in good time with a sufficient quantity Up to this (Monday) morning it is not believed any considerable body of rebels have crossed the river, but yesterday the telegraph between here and Frederick ceased to work, having been cut at a point between this place and Boousbore, indicating that a band of rebel raiders were operating there.

At the present time everything is comparatively quie', but it e town presents an anxious Our troops and citizens are watchful, and prepared to do their best should the enemy make any demonstration against the town. Saturday night those families, whose houses were in range of the cannon planted for defence, left their beds and sought refuge in the cellars of such residences as were thought safe.

Return of the Amande Winants from an Unsuccessful Search after Two Missing Barges, on which were 4 men who are Supposed to have Perished.

FROM FURTRESS MONROE.

FORTRESS MONROE, Nov. 15 - The steamer Amande Winants, sent in search of the barges that broke loose from the Andrew Harbor on the eve of the 13th instant, has returned. Captain Williams reports having searched in vain for the missing boats. He found the eastern shore of Virginia strewn with railroad ties, supposed to be those with which the barges were ladened. Four men were on board the barges, and are supposed to have perished. Their names are not known here.

Banquet to Captain Winslow, of the Kearsarge.

Boston, Nov. 15 .- The banquet given by the merchants and ship owners of Boston, to Captain Winslow and the officers of the Kearsarge at the Revere House last night, drew together the principal merchants, and many distinguished personages.

Among the guests were Edward Everett, Admiral Stringham, Col. Graham, of the Engineer Corps, the Postmaster, Collector, Dis trict Attorney, Mayor, and a large number of others. Three hundred persons sat down to the table; Hon. George B. Upton presided. Edward Everett responded to the sentiment to the President, in the form of an eloquent eulogism.

The gallant guest of the evening was received with immense applause. He gave an account of the cruise of the Kearsarge, touching lightly upon the fight with the Alabama, and mentioning the important consequences and favorable influences upon the American cause in Europe that followed from the engagement. Lieut. Thornton was received with like demonstrations of applause.

Letters from in vived guests were read, among them from Gov. Andrew, Secretary Welles and Hon. R. C. Winthrop. The company separated at 11 o'clock with cheers for the Kearsarge's officers and men.

THE TRIAL OF MESSES. NORTH, JONES, AND COHN, charged with manufacturing soldiers' bogus ballots, was resumed at 12 30 p. m. to-day by the military commission, which assembled, pursuant to adjournment, at their rooms, on F street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets. All the members of the commission were present. Major General Abner Doubleday, United States volunteers, president, and Colonel John A. Foster, 175th New York volunteers, the Judge Advocate.

The prisoners, Colonel Samuel North, Marvin H. Jones and Levi Cohn, were brought into court about twelve o'clock. Ransom H. Gillet and John D. McPherson, Esqs., of this city, together with Colonel W. A. Beach, of Troy, New York, appeared as counsel for the pris-

By the counsel for defense .- Are von not Governor elect of the State of New York! Witness .- It is so reported. Witness has known Colonel North ever since the spring of 1853; has seen him frequently since that time; met him frequently in this city while he (North) was acting as agent for the State of New York: has never known anything prejudicial to his character as an officer or his standing as a gentleman, until the present

The Jhdge Advocate here stated to the Court that be had subpornaed a number of witnesses, who should have been here, but for some cause were not present. He presumed some of them would not appear without being attached, and as it would take several days to get them here by that process, he asked for an adjournment of the court until Saturday

Col. Beach, one of the counsel for defence, said that it would be a personal accommodation to him to have the court adjourn, as he had an engagement in the circuit court of his district, which would convene on Monday next, and he would like the court to adjourn over to enable him to meet that engagement. The Court conferred, and finally decided to adjourn the case of Col. North until next Tuesday week.

now as at any time since the destruction of the boats by the guerrillas a few months ago; but not so lively as it would be if more boats were employed in the carrying. The wharves are constantly occupied by vessels from distant depots, awaiting their time to load, and every cargo that arrives from the mines is immediately shipped, leaving no coal banks at the docks. The agents of the various companies are making the most they can of the time that remains before the closing of navigation by ice, and as soon as a boat is unloaded the clearance is ready for her departure to the Cumberland depots for another cargo. The hoatmen spend but few hours in Georgetown. The number of arrivals so far in this month was 201 boats, only twenty of them carrying other cargoes than coal. A RUMOR .- A rumor has been going the
